

Prizes for AriSLA – the Italian foundation for research into amyotrophic lateral sclerosis

AriSLA is a concrete response is part of the commitment and investment in the struggle against ALS, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, supporting, coordinating and promoting scientific research to fight this illness. AriSLA is a concrete response is part of the commitment and investment in the struggle against ALS, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, supporting, coordinating and promoting scientific research to fight this illness. Bracco Foundation again in 2018 rewarded the best posters by young researchers (as happened in 2016 and 2017), presented at the National Congress of the AriSLA Foundation so that they can have the chance to present their research in the most prestige national and international settings and be evaluated on the basis of the quality of their presentation and the impact of the results achieved on ALS.