

Webinars for students and teachers from 100esperte

The Bracco Foundation and DeAScuola, in collaboration with the "100 women against stereotypes" project (#100esperte), have arranged a new multidisciplinary and cross-sectoral training course consisting of three webinars for teachers and one for students from junior and senior secondary schools.

Women experts in STEM fields, economists and sports stars will share their work and life experiences with a view to motivating the upcoming generation, offering helpful tips on how to make sustainable choices, and fostering critical thinking that rejects stereotyping and bias.

Find out more here

Meetings for teachers:

- Women economists on the development of a national economic system | 26 February 5-6.30pm
- Women STEM experts on sustainability and planetary health | 23 April 5-6.30pm
- Women sports champions as paradigms of growth, inclusion and peace | 8 May 5-6pm

Special event for students: Sportswomen in the classroom | 4 April 11-12

The project began in 2023 and its first edition may be seen here.